He Was A Christian Man

Editor of The News:

Albert C. Reynolds, affectionally known as "Kit" to his many friends and loved ones, touched the hearts and lives of all who knew and loved him. First and most important, Kit was a Christian man who loved his church and worked faithfully for it and his community. He enjoyed life and hard work; keeping busy, but always having time and willing to help others with never a complaint.

Through the steps of his Christian life, Kit was first a devoted son, brother, husband, father, grandfather, neighbor and friend.

As Kit's co-workers at Helme Products, Inc., where he was a hard-working and faithful employee for many years, we are deeply hurt and saddened by the untimely tragedy that struck him down and later took his life. It was a privilege to have known Kit and worked with him. He will be greatly missed with each passing day.

Letter To The Editor

Feb. 9, 1975

Dear Mr. Vaughan,

I write this letter for those people in Appomattox County that care for life. Please print this for their sake.

Today as I begin the onset of my labor, I think of all the unborn babies of the world. I think how sad it is that they will never have the chance my baby will. No matter how this little life turns out at least it will have had a chance for life.

I want to share this dairy with all of you. I pray it will touch each and every one of you.

DIARY OF AN UNBORN CHILD

October 5

Today my life began. My parents do not know it yet. I am as small as a seed of apple, but it is already. And I am to be a girl. I shall have blond hair and blue eyes. Just about everything is settled though even the fact that I shall love flowers.

October 19

Some say that I am not a real person yet, that only my Mother exists. But I am a real person, just as a small crumb of bread is yet truly bread. My mother is. And I am.

October 25

My heart began to beat today all by itself. From now on it shall gently beat for the rest of my life without stopping to rest. Not after many years it will tire. It will stop and then I shall die.

November 2

I am growing a bit everyday. My arms and legs are beginning to take shape. But I have to wait a long time yet before these little legs will raise me to my mother's arms, before these little arms will be able to gather flowers and embrace my father.

Nov. 12

Tiny fingers are beginning to form on my hands. Funny how small they are. I shall be able to stroke my mother's hair with them.

Nov. 23

It was Luntil today that the doctor told Mom that I am living here under her heart. Oh, how happy she must be. Are you happy, Mom?

Nov. 25

My Mom and Dad are probably thinking about a name for me. But they don't even know that I am a girl. They are probably saying Andy. But I want to be called Cathy. I am getting so big already.

Dec. 24.

I wonder if Mom hears the whispering of my heart? Some children come into the world a little sick. And the delicate hands of the doctor perform miracles to bring them to health. But my heart is strong and healthy. You will have a healthy little daughter, Mom.

Dec. 28.

Today my mother killed me. While this is fresh in your mind please sit down and write a letter to your Congressman, Senator, Delegate, and Governor. Tell them how you feel about abortion. Remember, if we don't stop this the next step is euthanasia. Please help me. Our children are our tomorrow.

Thank you for reading,

The Pastor Speaks

I am home recuperating from a minor operation. I am gaining strength day by day, thanks to a fine hospital (Virginia Baptist) and excellent doctors nurses' care. Many of you have had to enter the hospital for surgery and your know what is involved in caring for someone. Some of you will sooner or later find out.

I have said the above to point out a very important lesson that I have learned from my hospital experience. God's presence was as real as those who were attending to me. It was as if those working in the hospital were being directed by Him to attend to all my needs. I never wanted for anything to make my hospitalization any better. Now maybe my experience was not like yours. Also, I am not recommending you go to the hospital for a new experience to help make your life complete. I am saying God is sufficient for every experience we have in life.

Probably most of you reading this are already Christians, However, if you are not, will you consider giving God a chance in your life? I have not always trusted Him completely. But since I recognized my need for Him, my sinfulness in the presence of a Holy and righteous God, that Christ was His Son who loved me enough to die for me and be resurrected from the dead with God's power, my life became meaningful for the first time. God gave me faith to believe in the Bible, and He will do the same for you. Will you simply trust in Him today? Romans 10:9-11 says, "That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved. For the heart(faith) man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation. For the scripture saith, Whosoever believeth on Him shall not be ashamed."

The Sunday School Lesson

Comment on the International Sunday School lesson for Sunday, March 9, 1975.

Topic: We Have A Great High Priest.

Scripture: Hebrews 2: 10 - 5:14.

We have not a high priest who is unable to sympathize with our weaknesses, but one who in every respect has been tempted as we are, yet without sinning. Hebrews 4:15.

The priesthood is a feature of every religion. The function of the priest is to stand between man and the god or gods of his religion and to bring the one into relation with the other. The priest intercedes with the god or gods for man and gives to man the response of the god. As far back as we can trace the history of man we find priests. Among some peoples, the Romans and the Hebrews for example, the earliest priest was the father of the family. The Roman father in his priestly role was intercessor between his family and the spirits of the family's ancestors. The Hebrew patriarchs, Abraha, Isaac, Jacob, performed a priestly role in offering sacrifices to God.

In time the priesthood became a special, separate profession. In some cultures there was the transition in the priesthood from father of the family to king of the city as was the case with Melchizidek, king of Salem (Jerusalem) and priest of God Most High. The establishment of a special order of priesthood among the Hebrews is described in the books of Exodus and Leviticus. One of the tribes, that of Levi, was set apart by God for religions work, and a member of that tribe, Aaron, the brother of Moses, and his decendants were called to the priesthood.

The principal method of intercession was through offering sacrifices, and this exercise could be performed only by the priest, not only in the Hebrew religion, but in pagan religions as well. In the Christian religion, Jesus Christ through His crucifixion became the perfect and all-sufficient sacrifice. There is therefore no need of further sacrifices which involve the shedding of blood, but it is still necessary for man to have an intercessor with God. In some brances of the Christian faith, there continues a special order of the priesthood. Some, however, hold that all believers have been made priests: "But you are . . . a royal priesthood" (I Peter 2:9); "and has made us . . . priests to his God and Father" (Revelation 1:6).

Many religions have high priests as heads of the priesthood, or hierarchy. This was true of the Hebrew religion after the Exodus. The writer of the Letter to the Hebrews sees all believers as priests and portrays Jesus Christ as the great high priests. In His Incarnation the Son had become the man Jesus and had experienced human life and the temptations to man to alienate him from God and to frustrate God's purpose in his life. Thus the risen Son becomes the perfect Intercessor or Mediator between God and man, because He knows what it is to be both God and man.

The writer of the book of Hebrews, consistent with his purpose to show the superiority of the Christian faith to the Hebrew, presents Jesus Christ as the complete and perfect revelation of God, superior to the imperfect revelations through the prophets. Now he presents the high priesthood of Jesus as superior to that of the Aaronic line. He finds it in the example of the obscured Melchizidek, to whom Abraham, ancestor of Levi and Aaron, paid a tithe of the spoils captured from the kings of Mesopotamia, and from whom he received and accepted a blessing. In so doing, Abraham recognized in Melchizidek a superior order of priesthood to his own and by inference the superiority of his descendants' priesthood of Melchizidek. Melchizidek became the symbol of an eternal priesthood (Psalm 110:4), and therefore an appropriate analogy to the priesthood of Christ.

The priest is human, but is called by God to the ministry of intercession. The Son of God became man in the Incarnation. God appointed Him to be our great high priest in an eternal priesthood. "In the days of his flesh" Jesus performed the priestly role of intercession. Now at the right hand of the Father, He continues to perform His priestly responsibility of intercession for the sins of His people. Through the resurrection and ascended Christ, believers have access to the Father. Through Him access, prayers are made to God by believers "in the name of Jesus Christ, His Lord and Savior."

Henry Penny Extension

The Henny Penny Extension Homemakers Club met on February 19 at 7:00 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Dorothy Turner with eleven members present and two visitors, Mrs. Revella Austin and Miss Dora Austin. Both were very glad to have them with us.

Our topic for the month was on Bread Making. Quick and Yeast. Mrs. Turner, our leader for the month, gave the demonstration on dinner rolls. She also had made in advance three different kinds of loaf bread. Raisin, cheese and cinnamon bread.

After the demonstration an auction sale was held, which everyone enjoyed. For refreshments members and visitors enjoyed the different kinds of loaf bread, dinner rolls, sour cream apple coffee cake, hot mulled cider and punch.

All the members are very grateful to our hostess for a very enjoyable evening.
